

Point Cook Senior Secondary College

Point Cook Senior Secondary College students benefit from a full range of education pathway options. A program of Individual Learning and Pathways Plans helps students develop their study, career and tertiary education focus. Years 11-12 students access a subject range spanning academic and vocational courses. Study units are offered alongside school based apprenticeships and vocational subject choices. In partnership with local universities, the school also offers accelerated tertiary study in areas like mathematics and information technology.
